

OUR THOUGHTS

“For Scotland to combat climate change, we each need to change our own consumption behaviours. Sharing libraries and repair projects provide simple and effective solutions to do this whilst reducing our carbon footprint. We are proud to support the sector by running the network and hope to significantly grow the number of these projects in Scotland.”

Michael Cook, CEO, Circular Communities Scotland.

“The Share and Repair Network really is revolutionary. It’s the first of its kind in Scotland, and our members are helping transform how we think about and consume goods. There is so much heart in everything they do for the environment and their local communities. It’s an honour to support and celebrate their work.”

Emma Erwin, Share and Repair Network Coordinator.
