

Circular Communities Scotland Announcement and Information

CEO Michael Cook 2024 Sabbatical

CEO Michael Cook of Circular Communities Scotland will be taking a sabbatical from his role between January – August 2024.

Michael plans to return to his position as CEO, refreshed and invigorated to continue to lead Circular Communities Scotland's in its growth and in support of our members.

For the duration of Michael's sabbatical an Interim CEO will take over Circular Communities Scotland.

As an organisation, Circular Communities Scotland prides itself on our caring and empowering work environment, where staff are supported to live to their full potential both inside and outside of work. As such, we are delighted to support Michael on his sabbatical and wish him the best.

Please see the news and events page of our website for more information about the Interim CEO position, which will go live June 19th 2023. We welcome applicants either through secondment or employment.

Please share the Interim CEO advert with anyone you feel would be appropriate for the role.

Please do not share this news publicly until the Interim CEO job advert is live on June 19th 2023.

If you are interested in the role, have questions or would like to know more please email Michael michael@circularcommunities.scot to set up a conversation with him or a member of the Circular Communities Scotland board.

The whole Circular Communities Scotland board and team would like to thank our members for their ongoing support.
